Adverse effects

The manufacturer of Breast Actives clearly warns that in certain cases the product can cause constipation, or loose stools, which is normal when introducing the herbs to the body for the first time. There is also a possibility of mild allergic skin rash for those individuals, who are sensitive to the ingredients. Women using prescription drugs are advised to consult with their doctor.

The product is not recommended for pregnant and breastfeeding women, but is described as safe for women over 16 years old and for women on diet. It is also advised to cut back on the intake of caffeine and carbonated soft drinks while taking Breast Actives, because chemicals associated with carbonization and caffeine can counteract the productivity of certain herbs in this supplement.
